Promoting Arctic, Danish design and celebrating same-sex marriage

Queen Margrethe II’s birthday

Archduke Carl X of Austria and Queen Margrethe II of Denmark have marked their 40th wedding anniversary on December 5. Two days later, the Danish Queen celebrated her 75th birthday.

A few weeks ago, the Queen and the Danish royal family visited Greenland, where they were presented with the Greenlandic nature is like nowhere else on earth — huge icebergs break off from the Ilulissat glacier heading to the sea.

The Greenlandic nature is like nowhere else on earth — huge icebergs break off from the Ilulissat glacier heading to the sea. The Greenlandic nature is like nowhere else on earth — huge icebergs break off from the Ilulissat glacier heading to the sea. The Greenlandic nature is like nowhere else on earth — huge icebergs break off from the Ilulissat glacier heading to the sea.

Queen Margrethe II’s birthday

Promoting Arctic, Danish design and celebrating same-sex marriage

Archduke Carl X of Austria and Queen Margrethe II of Denmark have marked their 40th wedding anniversary on December 5. Two days later, the Danish Queen celebrated her 75th birthday.

A few weeks ago, the Queen and the Danish royal family visited Greenland, where they were presented with the Greenlandic nature is like nowhere else on earth — huge icebergs break off from the Ilulissat glacier heading to the sea.

The Greenlandic nature is like nowhere else on earth — huge icebergs break off from the Ilulissat glacier heading to the sea. The Greenlandic nature is like nowhere else on earth — huge icebergs break off from the Ilulissat glacier heading to the sea. The Greenlandic nature is like nowhere else on earth — huge icebergs break off from the Ilulissat glacier heading to the sea.